THE SCHEME FAILS

Effort to Disfranchise Republicans Unsuccessful

Judge Lightfoot Held That Proof Must Be Introduced or Names Will Remain.

ANOTHER BLOW FOR YEISER

The Yeiser faction, who through Mayor Yeiser's campaign manager served notices on between 300 and 400 colored voters a few days ago to appear in county court to show cause why their names should not be stricken, got knocked out in the first round today.

The notices served in wholesale lots on anybody so he happened to be a Republican, were returnable today, tomorrow and Monday. Out of the batch considered before dinner, only two names were stricken, and these were Jack Satterfield and Henry Jones of the Gleaner precinct. The evidence showed that they registered legally and were legal voters, but after registering their house burned and they had to take up their abode elsewhere which took them out of the precinct. Their names were stricken, but only for this election, and not because they were registered illegally.

The point on which the Yeiser adherents seemed to rest their hopes of success in the gigantic scheme of disfranchising voters of an opposite political faith was whether or not a voter had to be present and reply to the notice. The test came when the first voter failed to respond.

County Attorney Graves, who was assisting Attorney James Campbell, Jr., Mayor Yeiser's manager, wanted Judge Lightfoot to rule that if a man did not answer, his name should be stricken without further delay.

Attorneys Sam Houston and Ed Hubbard, for the Republicans, strenuously objected and were sustained by Judge Lightfoot. The court said in substance that every legal voter had a right to vote, and that because he did not appear in person to reply to a motion made to strike his name from the registration books, was no sign he was not a legal voter and entitled to vote. He said that to begin with, the notices sent out were not in accordance with the statutes. Instead of simply notifying the voter that such and such a person would be strucken, such a date make a motion to strike his name from the registration lists, the notices command the voter to "appear and show cause why your name shall not be stricken." Judge Lightfoot said, suppose for instance some man attempted to register and vote should get one of the notices and fail on account of sickness or absence to reply to the notice. Could it be held by a court that the man should be deprived of his vote for a year by his name being stricken from the registration? He did not think so, and explained that the prosecution had its witnesses there it could prove its case just as well as without the defendant and his witnesses, and if those witnesses proved the defendant was registered illegally, and not a legal voter, the name would be stricken. Otherwise it would not.

Democrats all over the city have begun to denounce political methods which result in such proceedings as that above. They say that they do not approve of it and are not responsible for what the Yeiser element does. It is claimed that the Yeiser element represents less than 1,000 out of 2,800 Democratic votes, and that the scheme is one that the party does not sanction and did not hatch. It is estimated that many votes have been lost to the Yeiser crowd by the scheme to disfranchise Republican voters.

Judge Lightfoot decided that voters whose houses burn or who move between registration day and election had been legally registered and their names may not be stricken from the books, but that they cannot vote on November 3.

This afternoon the name of Robert Boswell was the only one stricken while N. Baynam's name was marked doubtful.

of the shotgun at him, both charges taking effect in his arm. McCain fled to the woods nearby, and 20 minutes later Piron followed him. It is said that Piron found McCain seated on a log, binding his wounds with some lint and a bottle of liniment. What passed between them is not known, at any rate Piron again fired both barrels of his shotgun into McCain's body, killing him instantly. Piron is in custody.

HELD RESPONSIBLE

Negligent Employees Blamed for Haynes' Death.

Jury Heard the Evidence and Rendered a Verdict Yesterday Afternoon.

The inquest into the death of Willis Haynes, colored, whose head was cut off at the Illinois Central cinder pit while he was at work yesterday morning, resulted in a verdict holding the company responsible.

Coroner Peal heard the evidence yesterday afternoon and the jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that Willis Haynes came to his death by being run over by an engine in the I. O. railroad yards through the negligence of the employees of the company."

Signed:

Haynes, as told yesterday, was at work under a locomotive at the cinder pit in the shop yard when another locomotive came along and struck it and one of the big wheels cut off his head.

The funeral of the deceased took place today. He was 37 years old and leaves a family.

MANY VISITED THE LIBRARY
A large crowd visited the Carnegie public library yesterday afternoon and last night to inspect the handsome building. The date for turning it over to the city has not yet been decided on.

THE CAT AND THE MICE.

Find the Master of the House.

A Certain House was much infested with Mice. The owner brought home a Cat, a famous monster, who soon made such havoc among the little folk, that those who remained resolved they would never leave the upper shelves. The Cat grew hungry and thin in consequence, and, driven to her wits' end, hung by her hind-legs to a peg in the wall, and pretended to be dead. An old Mouse came to the edge of the shelf, and, seeing through the deception, cried out: "Ah, ah! Mrs. Pussy! We should not come near you even if your skin were studded with straw."

MORAL.—Prudent folks never trust those a second time who have defrauded them once; and, indeed, we cannot well be too cautious in following this rule; for upon examination we shall find that most of the misfortunes which befall us, proceed

SHALL KENTUCKY VOTE TO HANG CALEB POWERS

Extracts from the Louisville Herald.

The Louisville Herald, in a masterful article denouncing the action of the Democratic machine in Kentucky in making the conviction and execution of Caleb Powers, an innocent man, an issue in the present gubernatorial campaign, utters some sparkling gems of truth that should be immortal in journalism.

The Sun gives only a few of the potent arguments and eloquent comments, but they should find effective lodgment in the breast of every true man in Kentucky says the Herald:

"And so it has come to this—that the machine organization, representing itself as the once great and powerful Democratic party of Kentucky has fallen so low as to make the trap door of a scaffold its actual platform and the hanging of Caleb Powers its chief claim for perpetuation in the power it has abused and disgraced. All over Kentucky printed copies of the speeches in the prosecution of Mr. Powers before a packed and partisan jury are circulating. Thrust into the very fleshes of people by a campaign committee to inflame them into a demand that he be sacrificed on the gallows to the necessities of greedy politicians, who would forever blacken the name of Kentucky, to hold on to offices they already occupy through a theft of the ballot."

"Governor Beckham is the author of this issue. He was the first to make the shocking proposition to trade off for the office of governor, the life of a young man fighting single-handed against the enormous odds of the whole power of a partisan state administration.

"Yet this is the governor who has himself polluted the records of the state with pardons to unspeakable villains and malefactors, for crimes so atrocious, so shocking to decency and humanity, and for reasons so frankly partisan, that he has not dared to permit free access to the public books and papers in which his pardons are set out. This is the governor who has pardoned Engate and Hudson, Goodloe Combs, 'the Wild Dog,' Curtis Jett and Tom White, the preparatory assassins for hire in Breathitt, the ferocious Bevineses of Pike, and John McDavid, the cut-throat of Graves, first graduate of the whipping post statutes, and scores of other assassins and man-killers."

"Not one of these cases was that of a political convict. All were of men whose very neighbors were called on under the law to send them to prison. Every one received that mercy which a fellow townsmen is always inclined to show. From every court and every fair and unpeaked jury went up the signed certificate of absolute and undoubted guilt. In the Engate and Hudson cases the highest court of the state uttered an indignant protest against the savage atrocity of the ty in a political court, and there are still good men so blinded by political zeal that they cannot see any wrong in it."

"There have been nine trials—three of Powers, three of Jim Howard, and one each of Berry Howard, Henry Yontsey and Ripley. Every jury has been solidly Democratic, whatever the complexion of the county whence the jurors were chosen."

"In Bourbon county, where the last Powers jury was selected, the votes cast indicated that an impartial allotment of jurors would have produced seven Republicans and five Democrats. Affidavits were made that the sheriff's officer passed over Republicans and summoned their Democratic neighbors; that out of 176 men summoned, 172 were regular Democrats. It was given out that one of the jurors was a Republican, but it turned out that he had been a supporter of Mr. Goebel, and voted in the Beckham primary last spring."

"Every jury solidly Democratic, trying political opponents on accusations into which the Commonwealth's attorney, assisted by a notorious and corrupt criminal lawyer from Cincinnati, injected every atom possible of political virulence and zeal, before casting prejudicing every hearing with plainly expressed sympathy for the prosecution, with perjured witnesses giving and changing their testimony to suit—yet nothing has been proved against Powers but a suspicion that he may have been privy to Goebel's assassination by the hand of Henry Yontsey, the degenerate crank, who admits he planned the deed and denies he executed it."

"When the day comes that Caleb Powers shall be hanged according to the forms of judicial murder, after each mockery of trial as he has had, the blackest page of Kentucky's history will be written. It will be written by the most vindictive and selfish group of time servers and self-seekers that has ever been cast up as the flotsam and jetsam of political accident.

"All these assassins, rapists and unspeakable brutes Governor Beckham pardoned with a light heart.

"But, like a Nern in the amphitheater, he turns his thumb down of Caleb Powers, and cries out to the people he has shocked, 'Re-elect me that I may hang this young man. He is a Republican, and I warn you that Balkamp will not permit him to be hanged.'

"Who is Caleb Powers, and what has been proved against him?

"Caleb Powers, the man, is of no more importance than a hundred thousand like him; young men, who, for the glory of the state, are filled with ambition to be somebody, to do something noble, to be, at least, captains among the hosts of their fellow citizens—perhaps a chief leader when character and capacity have been proved."

"But Caleb Powers, as the possible victim of political passion, and prejudice, his life as the object and price of a political campaign, becomes of transcendent importance to the whole state of Kentucky. Whether a man be a Democrat or a Republican, if he have the good of the state or of any government at heart, his first demand must be for justice and the unprejudiced administration of law."

"Caleb Powers has never been convicted of complicity in the murder of William Goebel in any proper court by any fair jury, as the spirit of the constitution of this or any Republican form of state government demands, or as the safety of society requires.

Three times he has been tried before partisan courts, by juries packed by his political enemies, by the aid of perjured and carefully drilled testimony, backed up by the whole power of the state government, with $100,000 of reward funds to buy informers and perjurers. Three times has a verdict of guilty been pronounced against him, and yet each time the state has rebelled at the verdict as not warranted by justice or the facts."

"If Caleb Powers had been rushed to trial and execution in the midst of the heat and passion that Senator Goebel's murder aroused, it might have been forgiven or forgotten as an act of uncontrollable public excitement. But nearly four years have passed, reason has resumed its sway among all but the political clique speculating yet upon the magic of Goebel's name, and still the ghastly tragedy of persecution stalks its course among the counties of the Fourteenth Judicial district."

"We now look back in horror at medieval days when men and women were burned at the stake or broken to death in agony after a trial before their religious enemies, and call them the Dark Ages. Yet something like this has been going on in Scott county proffer with scorn. It never has been, and never will be, that Kentuckians refused fair play to a brave man. They should cast their votes for that man for governor who is not pledged or committed to any action except such as his cool and deliberate sense of justice shall approve, when the whole case shall have been heard and considered. And that hearing should be full and fair, divested of all the partisan rules and technical advantages, which have been uniformly used against Powers, and never in his favor.

"When this is done, justice will have been done, and we do not believe the death warrant of Caleb Powers would be written.

TO THE VOTERS OF PAUCAH.

I have been selected by the Republican party as its nominee for councilman from the Third ward and realizing the great responsibilities of the office want to tell you what I shall do if called to it.

I am for honesty first, and progress next. I shall vote to clean the city of filth, and to have the work done by our own workmen; vote to enforce every law, and to do away with vice and disorder; vote to give men power who are not afraid to enforce the laws; for men who will turn the wheels of progress; for men who are not tied to any man or set of men; vote to lift our city out of the mire of filth and corruption; to make of it one of which we can all be proud—one to which travelers will point as a progressive, clean, up-to-date town, and not refer to as is the case now.

This is my platform, and I solicit the vote of every voter regardless of party—of every man who wants a good, clean, progressive honest administration. Yours very truly,

THE ONLY SURE WAY.

It should be evident to every good citizen in Paducah that the only sure way to defeat the Yeiser ticket is to vote for the Republican ticket. It is not a matter of politics, but of freeing the city from a clique that has dominated it to the detriment of the people for several years past. Politics may be out of place in a city election, but politics were introduced into local affairs years ago by the Democrats, who have long been accustomed to elect anything that happened to be on the Democratic ticket. They have not chosen their men with a view to their fitness, and by drawing political lines have succeeded in unloading a lot of incompetent men on the taxpayers year after year. The records show it. The people know it, and now is the time to call a halt.

The people generally seem to desire fairness to prevail in local politics, and when a clique of politicians undertake to get into office by intimidation and trickery, that in itself is a

PLANKS IN THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

4. We promise the citizens of Paducah, that we will give them a wise, conservative and economical administration. While having an eye to economy, we will at the same time continue to favor all municipal improvements that are lasting and permanent, using every effort to keep up with all other cities of the size of Paducah.

5. We pledge ourselves to protect the interest of the business men, to favor no measure that would be detrimental to the business prosperity of the city, and to see that the laws are enforced and the morals as well as the streets are improved.

6. We heartily favor the issue of bonds for the building of new streets, and especially for the building of a suitable hospital and market house, a hospital that will house our unfortunate and be a credit instead of a disgrace to our beautiful city.

is the time to begin. Every substantial citizen would like to see ample facilities provided in Paducah for fighting fires. Every man with property would like to see it, because he never knows whose property it is that will go next. Better fire facilities would reduce insurance rates. And along with more facilities, we should have a branch fire station on the North Side and another in the West End. It would cost money, but it might pay in the long run. Now, while the fire of Wednesday is still fresh in the minds of the people, is the time to begin an effort to improve our facilities.

The local firemen should receive a special training. Fire fighting is a regular science, and men who are adept at it usually have had a course of training just as a doctor, lawyer or minister. The Memphis fire department is about to have a class of 25 of its firemen drilled by a former chief of the New York fire department. He charges a small price for drilling firemen in smaller cities in all the tactics used in the large cities, and guarantees to graduate a class second to none in the United States. Those he teaches may afterwards instruct the other men. If Memphis firemen can be taught these things, so can firemen in the smaller cities, and we believe it is no reflection on our own firemen to suggest that the city secure for them instruction in modern fire fighting. It may prove to be of great use to the city some day.

Only recently a gentleman wrote the trust that dictates insurance in this state, regarding a reduction in rates for his property and was told in reply that the reason rates could not be reduced in Paducah was that the fire fighting facilities were inadequate. Some time ago the city was told what to do to secure better fire protection and lower insurance rates, but nothing has ever yet been done by the city.

DEMOCRATIC METHODS.
The Louisville Democratic machine papers are not content with exaggerating the crowd that go out to hear the Democratic speakers, and with reducing the number that go out to hear the Republican speakers. They are now resorting to downright, palpable, brazen lying. A few days ago they published a statement that Captain W. J. Stone, former Confederate soldier and Democratic congressman from this district, had announced his intention of supporting Beckman and the Democratic ticket. This was to offset the authorized announcement of a few days before that Captain Stone would support Colonel Belknap and the Republican ticket.

Captain Stone has promptly exposed the mendacity by declaring that he had made no such statement, and could not see how such a report arose. A Kuttawa dispute says:

"He met, among the governor's party, Mr. Porter, of Bowling Green, one of his old friends, and introduced him to the people of Kuttawa who were present. That is all he did toward welcoming or giving support to the Democrats. He felt that as a citizen of Lyon county he could not be disreputable to an old friend, no matter what his political views."

"Governor Beckman and Mr. Stone did not speak during the governor's stop here. The governor got off the train and shook hands with several of his acquaintances, but Colonel Stone will give his support to the Republican state ticket, and will do all he can to aid in the election of men who are pledged to give Kentucky a clean, honest administration."

The same man who sent out the accounts of the Beckman speaking here to the Louisville Democratic organs must have sent out some of the reports of the fire night before last, judging from the inexcusable manner in which

SPECIAL OFFICERS

Placed on Guard at the Cinder Pit.

Rumors of Threats Against Tom Gibson Caused Some Alarm.

Trouble among the laborers at the local I. C. cinder pit was for a while yesterday afternoon threatened and two special officers were placed on duty at the shop last night to see that no outbreak resulted.

It is said that some of the colored laborers had threatened Tom Gibson, the white youth who was said to be responsible for running an engine over Willis Haynes' neck yesterday morning, with violence, because they thought the accident a result of pure negligence.

There was much sullenness manifested among the laborers and several openly avowed that they were willing and ready to do anything towards settling the matter as the crowd saw fit. This report reached the ears of the officers who placed two special men on duty. The trouble is now over.

IRONY OF FATE.

HAD SHE NOT CHANGED HER MIND SHE MIGHT HAVE ESCAPED.

Kansas City, Oct. 30 — Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, cousin in America of the Salvation Army, wife of Commander Booth-Tucker, and second daughter of William Booth, founder of the army, died from injuries received in a wreck on the eastbound California train on the Santa Fe railway at Dean Lake, Mo. She lived half an hour.

Had Mrs. Booth-Tucker followed out her original intention she would have missed the wreck in which she was killed. She arrived in Kansas City on the California train and intended to remain over.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker found she could make a brief trip up town between trains however, and later decided to continue east on the same train. All the lower berths in the standard sleepers were taken and it was suggested that she and Colonel Holland take berths in the tourist sleeper. She at first objected, saying that she had never traveled second class except in India. But after an inspection of the car she accepted a lower berth on the tourist sleeper. The other members of Mrs. Booth-Tucker's party went into the chair car.

KNOW NOW

AND WILL NEVER FORGET THE EXPERIENCE.

The coffee drinker who has suffered and then been completely cured by changing from coffee to Postum Food Coffee knows something valuable.

He or she has no doubt about it. A California lady says: "I learned the truth about coffee in a peculiar way.

My husband who has for years been of a very bilious temperament decided to leave off coffee and give Postum a trial and as I did not want the trouble of making two beverages for meals I concluded to try Postum too and the results have been that while my husband has been greatly benefited, I have myself received even greater benefit.

When I began to drink Postum I was thin in flesh and very nervous and now I actually weigh 16 pounds more than I did at that time and I am stronger physically and in my nerves while husband is cured of all his ails.

"We have learned our little lesson about coffee and we know something about Postum too for we have used Postum now steadily for the last three years and we shall always continue to do so. We have no more use for coffee — the drug drink. We prefer Postum and health." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DISGUSTED DOWIE

HE IS TIRED OF NEW YORK — SCORES PARKHURST.

New York, Oct. 30 — John Alexander Dowie has announced to his followers another crusade. He told his host to return to Zion City and save their money against the expenses of another crusade. "Because," he said, "the good work of spreading the restoration message is going to be carried far and wide."

James Peters, in charge of transportation arrangements, said the departure would be made early next week, according to the program, the special trains running as they came.

Dowie's noonday meeting engaged in a denunciation of medical students, medical colleges, secret societies and the newspapers.

Concerning Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, Dowie said:

"There's that miserable Parkhurst. He tells over his sermons and his hearers tell while listening to them. I have made up my mind that Parkhurst isn't worth powder to be shot. He never in his life addressed as many people as I address in one week. I never heard that Dr. Parkhurst had to get the police to keep the people out of his church as they had to do at my meetings."

"What do I care what they say about me? Bah! I preach to more than a million every week. I've had a pretty good time in New York, but there's a better time coming."

He will return to Louisville with the recruits tomorrow.

LITTLE CHANGE

The condition of the I. C. yards is about the same today. The freight is still badly congested and cars are standing on the tracks in front of the passenger depot for want of storage room in the yards. The trainmen are kept busy night and day moving the freight but it seems to be coming in as fast as the yards can be cleared. The business of the road this year has been greater than any previous year in heavy freight traffic and this is what caused the blockade here.

BURNED TO A CRISP

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 30 — William H. Julian, one of the best known tax lawyers in Kentucky, was burned to death at midnight in his office. He was fifty years old and unmarried, and a brother of Judge Ira Julian.

SCROFULA A DISEASE WE INHERIT.

Scrofula manifests itself in many ways. Swelling of the glands of the neck and throat, Catarrh, weak eyes, white swelling, offensive sores and abscesses, skin eruptions, loss of strength and weakness in muscles and joints.

It is a miserable disease and traceable in almost every instance to some family blood taint.

Scrofula is bred in the bone, is transmitted from parent to child, the seeds are planted in infancy and unless the blood is purged and purified and every atom of the taint removed Scrofula is sure to develop at some period in your life.

Scrofula appeared on the head of my little grandchild when only 18 months old, and sprouted out rapidly over the body. Her eyes were all red and she feared she would lose her sight. Eminent physicians were consulted, but could do nothing to relieve the little innocent. It was then that we decided to try S. S. S. Then, according to our advice, a speedy and complete cure was made. She is now a young lady, and has never had a sign of the disease to return.

150 South 5th Street. MRS. RUTH BERKLY, Salina, Kan.

No remedy equals S. S. S. as a cure for Scrofula. It cures and builds up the blood, makes it rich and pure, and under the tonic effects of this great Blood Remedy, the general health improves, the digestive organs are strengthened, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. The deposit of tubercular matter in the joints and glands is carried off as soon as the blood is restored to a normal condition, and the sores, eruptions, and other symptoms of Scrofula disappear.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and harmless; an ideal blood purifier and tonic that removes all blood taint and builds up weak constitutions. Our physicians will advise without charge, all who write us about their case. Book mailed free.

NEW TRIAL ASKED

ADDITIONAL DETAILS OF THE THURMAN MURDER TRIAL.

A motion for a new trial has been made in the case of George Redmond, given 14 years for killing Will Thurman, at Paducah, at Alton, Ill. We feared she would lose her sight. Eminent physicians were consulted, but could do nothing to relieve the little innocent. It was then that we decided to try S. S. S. Then, according to our advice, a speedy and complete cure was made. She is now a young lady, and has never had a sign of the disease to return.

The murder occurred between midnight and 4 o'clock on the morning of June 7 last at North Alton. A dance had been given at the park there that night, and an altercation occurred between the parties shortly before the murder over a girl. Redmond had taken the young lady to a dance, and Thurman stated that he would take her from him, and reached for the girl's arm. As he did so Redmond pulled something out of his hip pocket and struck him a violent blow on the head. The man was taken by Redmond and another party to a saloon in a dazed condition, where drunks were procured, after which they retired to the park. Thurman was found lying unconscious in the park the next morning, and was supposed to be suffering from alcoholism. He was afterward taken to the hospital at Alton, where an autopsy disclosed the presence of a huge clot of blood under the skull, above the right ear. He died several days later. Redmond's story was to the effect that while returning home with companion Thurman was found lying in the gutter. Thurman lived at Paducah, Ky., and had only been in the vicinity about two months.

PRESIDENT PARRY

SAYS CONDITIONS ARE CHANGING OUR GOVERNMENT TO SOCIALISM.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—D. M. Parry, of the National Manufacturers' Association, speaking today of the purpose of the convention of the employers' association, said:

"Conditions are so bad that it will not be long before the nature of our government is changed, and we shall have socialism. We propose to see that there is no change in our government and that the existing conditions of affairs is preserved. We will show the workingmen a better way to improve their condition than through the unions, as they now exist, or through socialism."

The great number of dyspeptics is increasing daily. This is due to hurried eating and lack of care in selecting proper food. There is nothing more effective to the rundown digestive organs than pure pepsin, and while pepsin alone corrects the over-worked digestive organs, a tonic, such as pure port wine, is also necessary to keep them in this condition.

Walther's Peptonized Port, to be found in all drug stores, combines in exact preparations the purest pepsin and richest port wine. It is highly recommended by thoughtful physicians. For sale by W. B. McPherson, Druggist, Paducah, Ky.

Theatrical Notes.

Daniel L. Hart, a young journalist of Wilkes-Barre, and, as a playwright, the author of "The Parish Priest" and other successes, and C. E. Callahan, author of the popular comedies, "Fogg's Ferry" and "A Romance of Coon Hollow," have written in conjunction, a new play entitled "Slaves of the Mine." That it is skilfully constructed, with bright and witty language, and strong dramatic scenes may be inferred from the previous works of its makers. It has a natural, every day story, with characters, both heroic and whimsical, drawn from life near Mr. Hart's home. There is comedy galore, and some sensational scenes giving ample opportunity for the scenic artist. Mr. James Fox of New York. A graphic reproduction of the bottom of a coal mine is seen, showing the miners at work with lights in their caps, cars being loaded and hoisted, characters going and coming up and down by the elevator, and, finally, the destruction of the entire mine by an explosion of gas as a climax. Specialties are to be given by the celebrated Eagie quartette and others. "Slaves of the Mine" will be given at The Kentucky tomorrow matinee and night. Popular prices at night and 25c matinee to all.

"The Governor's Son" is the best thing seen at the Kentucky for a long time in the musical comedy line. A large audience enjoyed it, and found it to be bright, clever and musical throughout. The work of John McVeigh as "the Governor's son," was exceptionally good, and Harry H. Lester, in a Dutch comedy role, is the best seen here since "The Polite Lumber" in the Belles of New York or "Hans Nix" in The Telephone Girl. Walter Chester as the newly married man was good, and Will Holliday as "Bill Swift," the athlete, handled his part well. Grace Hazard is a dainty and graceful little comedienne, and Louise Gould as the bride, Ruth Hall as "Mrs. Dicky Dickson," and Hilda Hawthorne as the widow, were all far above the average. Miss Hawthorne having one of the best voices heard here this season. The chorus is composed of shapely girls, and the lines are bright and sparkling. There is plenty of action, and the verdict of the audience last night was that "The Governor's Son" is hard to beat. The company went to Cairo today on the Joe Fowler.

Miss Helen Grantley's portrayal of Dona Dolores in Lerimer Stodard's play, "In the Palace of the King," has been favorably compared with Miss Viola Allen for whom the piece was originally written.

TRAMPS TROUBLESOME

A FEW COMPLAINTS NOW BEING MADE TO HEADQUARTERS.

A number of insolent tramps have been reported to the police, but thus far none of them have been caught. The hoboos seem to hang about the outskirts and do not venture downtown. One went to a house a night or two ago in Mechanicsburg and gruffly said he wanted something to eat and wanted it quick. The lady was greatly frightened and said to wait a minute, and shutting the door she ran over to a neighbor. If he had been caught he would have been roughly handled by the men in the neighborhood. All tramps caught will be arrested for vagrancy and if found guilty put to work or the street.

Many persons who feel tired, nervous and all worn out—not exactly sick, yet far from well—seek the aid of a physician when what they really need is a simple tonic—something to brace them up.

People thus ailing should try Walther's Peptonized Port. Sold at W. B. McPherson, Druggist, Paducah, Ky. It combines the richest old port wine with the very best of pepto.

It creates a natural appetite, tones up the stomach, cures dyspepsia and indigestion.

Many physicians prescribe Walther's Peptonized Port when their patients need a dependable tonic.

Small size 50 cents, large size $1.

ALICE of OLD VINCENNES

By MAURICE THOMPSON

Copyright, 1900, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Now, I'll scalp you," he said in a rumbling tone terrible to hear. And with his words out came his hunting knife from his sheath.

"Oh, have mercy, my dear M. Bon-sillon!" cried the panting captive. "Have mercy."

"Mercy! Yes, like your colonel's; that's what you'll get. You stand by that fellow, that scoundrel, that bandit, and help him. Oh, yes, you'll get mercy! Yes, the same mercy that he showed to my poor little Alice! Your scalp, monsieur, if you please. A small matter; it won't hurt much!"

"But, for the sake of old friendship, Gaspar, for the sake!"

"Zif! Poor little Alice!"

"Tout de même, monsieur, je vais vous scalper malencontreusement."

In fact, he had taken off a part of Maisonneuve's scalp when a party of soldiers, among whom was Maisonneuve's brother, a brave fellow and loyal to the American cause, were attracted by his cries and came to his rescue.

M. Bon-sillon struggled savagely, insisting upon completing his cruel performance, but he was at last overpowered, partly by brute force and partly by the pleading of Maisonneuve's brother, and made to desist. The big man wept with rage when he saw the bleeding prisoner protected. "Eh bien! I'll keep what I've got," he roared, "and I'll take the rest of it next time."

He shook the tuft of hair at Maisonneuve and glared like a mad bull.

Two or three other members of La-motte's band were captured about the same time by some of the French militiamen, and Clark when on his round cheering and directing his forces discovered that these prisoners were being used as shields. Some young creoles, gay with drink and the stimulating effect of fight, had bound the poor fellows and were firing from behind them.

Of course the commander promptly put an end to this cruelty, but they considered it exquisite fun while it lasted. It was in broad daylight, and they knew that the English in the fort could see what they were doing.

"It's shameful to treat prisoners in this way," said Clark. "I will not permit it. Shoot the next man that offers to do such a thing."

One of the creole youths, a hand-some, swarthy Adonis in buckskin, tossed his shapely head with a defiant smile and said:

"To be sure, mon colonel. But what have they been doing to us? We have amused them all winter. It's but fair that they should give us a little fun now."

Clark shrugged his broad shoulders and passed on. He understood perfectly what the people of Vincennes had suffered under Hamilton's brutal administration.

At 9 o'clock an order was passed to cease firing, and a flag of truce was seen going from Clark's headquarters to the fort. It was a peremptory demand for unconditional surrender. Hamilton refused, and fighting was fiercely resumed from behind rude breastworks meantime erected. Every loophole and opening of whatever sort was the focus into which the unerring buckwood rifles sent their deadly bullets. Men began to fall in the fort, and every moment Hamilton expected an assault in force on all sides of the stockade. This, if successful, would mean inevitable massacre. Clark had warned him of the terrible consequences of holding out until the worst should come. "For," said he in his note to the governor, "if I am obliged to storm, you may depend upon such treatment as is justly due to a murderer."

Historians have wondered why Hamilton became so excited and acted so strangely after receiving the note. The phrase "justly due to a murderer" is the key to the mystery. When he read it his heart sank and terrible fear seized him. "Justly due to a murderer?" Ah, that calm, white, beautiful girl face, dead in the moonlight, with the wisp of shining hair across it! Such treatment naively justly due to a murderer!" Cold drops of sweat broke out on his forehead and a shiver went through his body.

During the truce Clark's weary yet still enthusiastic besiegers enjoyed a good breakfast prepared for them by the loyal dames of Vincennes. Little Adrienne Bourcier was one of the handmaiden of the occasion. She brought to Beverly's squad a basket, almost as large as herself, heaped high with roasted duck and warm wheat bread, while another girl bore two huge jugs of coffee, fragrant and steaming hot. The men cheered them lustily and complimented them without reserve, so that before their sorry lot was over their faces were glowing with delight.

And yet Adrienne's heart was uneasy and full of longing to hear something of René de Rionville. Surely some one of her friends must know something about him. Ah, there was Uncle Jazon! Doubtless he could tell her all that she wanted to know. She lingered after the food was distributed and shyly inquired,

"Hain't seed the accamp," said Uncle Jazon, "only he seed the patois most familiar to the girl's ears when he scolded long ago, I reckon."

His mouth was so full that he spoke mumbly and with utmost difficulty. Nor did he glance at Adrienne, whose face took on as great pallor as her brown complexion could show.

Beverley ate but little of the food. He sat apart on a piece of timber that projected from the rough breastwork and gave himself over to infinite miles

"What's the motor? Hey they hit us by the motor, which was trebled when he took Alice's locket from his bosom only to discover that the bullet which struck him had almost entirely destroyed the face of the miniature."

He gripped the dented and twisted case and gazed at it with the stare of a blind man. His heart almost ceased to beat and his breath had the rattling sound we hear when a strong man dies of a sudden wound. Somehow the disfigurement of the portrait was taken by his soul as the final touch of fate, signifying that Alice was forever and completely obliterated from his life. He felt a blur pass over his mind. He tried in vain to recall the face and form so dear to him; he tried to imagine her voice; but the whole universe was a vast hollow silence. For a long while he was cold, staring, rigid. Then the inevitable collapse came, and he wept as only a strong man can who is hurt to death, yet cannot die.

Adrienne approached him, thinking to speak to him about Irene, but he did not notice her, and she went her way, leaving beside him a liberal supply of food.

CHAPTER XX.

ALICE'S FLAG.

GOVERNOR HAMILTON received the note sent him by Colonel Clark and replied to it with curt dignity, but his heart was quaking. As a soldier he was true to the military tradition, and nothing could have induced him to surrender his command with dishonor.

"Lieutenant Governor Hamilton," he wrote to Clark, "begs leave to acquaint Colonel Clark that he and his garrison are not disposed to be awed into any action unworthy of British subjects."

"Very brave words," said Helm when Hamilton read the note to him, "but you'll sing a milder tune before many minutes or you and your whole garrison will perish in a bloody heap. Listen to those wild yell's! Clark has enough men to eat you all up for breakfast. You'd better be reasonable and prudent. It's not bravery to court massacre."

Hamilton turned away without a word and sent the message, but Helm saw that he was excited and could be still further wrought up.

"You are playing into the hands of your bitterest enemies, the frog eaters," he went on. "These creoles, over whom you've held a hot poker all winter, are crazy to turn loose upon you, and you know that they've got good cause to feel like giving you the extreme penalty. They'll give it to you without a flinch if they get the chance. You've done enough."

Hamilton whirled about and glared ferociously.

"Holm, what do you mean?" he demanded in a voice as hollow as it was full of desperate passion.

The general captain laughed as if he had heard a good joke.

"You won't catch any fish if you swear, and you look blasphemous," he said with the lightness of humor characteristic of him at all times. "You'd better say a prayer or two. Just reflect a moment upon the awful sins you have committed and—"

A crash of coalescing volleys from every direction broke off his levity. Clark was sending his response to Hamilton's lofty note. The guns of freedom rang out a prophecy of triumph, and the hissing bullets clucked sharply as they entered the solid logs of the walls or whisked through an aperture and bowled over a man. The British musketeers returned the fire as best they could, with a courage and a stubborn coolness which Helm openly admired, although he could not hide his satisfaction whenever one of them was disabled.

STILL SMOULDERING

Firemen Are Sore But Able to Be on Duty—Many Hats Ruined.

NEW QUARTERS OF SUFFERERS

The firemen from Central Station were taken to the scene of yesterday morning's fire at Second and Broadway this morning early to pick up the ladders, ropes and hose which were scattered about in the excitement of the fire.

Chief Woods stated this morning that the fire was about the hardest to fight he ever experienced and the reason he did not bring out the aerial ladder at first was because all available horses were being used in spreading the hose and he could not spare any at first to return to the station for the ladder.

Several hundred feet of hose is being left at the scene of the fire, which has not yet been entirely put out.

Chief Woods is sore and stiff today and says he feels like an old warrior who had gone through the heat of battle. His legs are sore, skinned, bruised and stiff and he can hardly walk about. The other firemen are also sore and stiff but only a few received bruises.

Since the fire many new hats have been sold to spectators especially ladies who had their head pieces badly damaged by sparks while standing about watching the fire. One lady had the veil upon her bonnet to catch fire from a large spark and before it was noticed had blazed up and ruined the bonnet.

Michael Brothers today rented the building at Third and Kentucky streets next to Bishop's laundry and began at once to fit it up for business. The new machinery, stock, etc., have been ordered and the firm will get to work again as soon as possible.

Mr. L. A. Lagomarsino will open his buffet about Monday, but it will probably be some time yet before the hotel is ready for business again.

M. Livingston & Co., who have considerable stock in their warehouse, are still doing business and have a temporary office at the warehouse on First street between Broadway and Jefferson.

H. Weil & Son have an office temporarily in I. Naehm's, next door to R. G. Terrell's. He will remain here until he can get into larger quarters. The building he occupied will be rebuilt at once.

Lang Brothers have rented a building on the east side of Second street near Bond's commission house, between Broadway and Kentucky, and will get down to business as soon as possible.

The debris is being cooled off as rapidly as possible and will be cleaned away immediately.

Last night late the Lagomarsino hotel caught fire again in the rear end of the fourth floor near the elevator shaft. A large pile of paper had taken fire again but fortunately was discovered in time to prevent a spread of the flames. Mr. Joe Waggoner, the watchman, extinguished the blaze with buckets of water.

The hotel during the fire was completely ransacked, and there was probably considerable loot from theft as well as otherwise.

Manager Joyner, of the Cumberland Telephone company, reports the loss of about a dozen phones from the fire, some of them were burned, some others were stolen, he thinks. Phones were taken from several rooms in the hotel.

The official amounts of insurance held are as follows:

Michael Brothers, $25,000 stock, $12,000 building.

Livingston & Co., $40,000 stock, $5,200 building.

Well & Sons, $15,500 stock, $4,000 building.

Lang Brothers, $2,600 stock, $4,000 building.

Lagomarsino, hotel building, $9,000; contents belonging to L. A. Lagomarsino, $6,800.

Mr. R. G. Terrell has a small loss in the Western Union.

The adjutants will probably arrive about Wednesday. They will hardly reach the city Monday as the election is Tuesday and most of them will remain at home to vote.

GOOD CROWD

HEARD FATHER COFFEY OF ST. LOUIS, AT WAREHOUSE.

Father Coffey, of St. Louis, addressed a large crowd at the warehouse last night. He came here at the instance of the independent men, and had one of the largest crowds that have attended a political meeting in Paducah. Rev. Coffey said very little about local conditions except by implication. He explained conditions in St. Louis, and the crusade that has been waged there, and pointed out the danger in allowing politicians to control city government until they prostitute and corrupt it.

Father Coffey is a forceful speaker who makes no pretensions to high flown oratory, but speaks directly and to the point. His audience was much interested in what he said. He speaks this afternoon at 3 o'clock to ladies only, and at the warehouse again tonight to the general public.
